MORE THAN FIFTY MEN ENTOMBED IN MINE

Fall, Doheny And Sinclair Are Indicted Again

GRAND JURY FINDS NEW BILL AGAINST TRIO OF OIL MEN

Conspiracy Charged In Negotiation Of Oil Leases

DOHENY, JUNIOR, NOT REINDICTED

Government Moves To Prosecute Cases Again at Capital

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 27.—Albert F. Fall, Edward Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair, whose indictment as a result of the oil scandal recently, was dismissed on a technicality, were re-indicted today by a District of Columbia grand jury.

As in the previous indictment, these indictments charged conspiracy in connection with the Teapot Dome and Elk Hill oil leases.

Edward L. Doheny, Jr., who previously had been indicted, was not re-indicted.

The original indictments returned here last summer, were thrown out of court on April 3 last on the grounds that the indictment officer of the department of justice had been present in the grand jury room and that his presence was illegal, because prosecution of the case was in the hands of the government's special oil counsel.

In the assembling of a new grand jury, many of the witnesses who had appeared in the first instance were recalled and much of the documentary evidence, gathered in the senate oil inquiry, was resubmitted.

In the main the indictments returned today follow up the charges dismissed last month, but in some respects changes were made. Most important of these changes was the omission in today's indictments of any charge of bribery.

In other respects, however, the new indictments are more comprehensive than the old, while the old indictments merely charged conspiracy to obtain the leases to the land included in the naval reserve, those returned today allege the conspiracy embraced the sale of the oil to the government without competitive bidding, the purchase of storage facilities, the buying of kerosene and lubricating oil and petroleum, and the adoption of a credit sale method of purchase, by which no cash passed to the government of the United States.

DARROW WILLING TO DEFEND SCOPES

Attorney Denies That He and Malone Have Changed Minds

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 27.—Clarence Darrow, Chicago lawyer, still stands ready, with Dudley Malone, of New York City, to aid the defense of Prof. Scopes, of Dayton, Tenn., indicted on charges of violation of the Tennessee anti-evolution law.

Mr. Darrow said today stories that he had not volunteered his services, with Mr. Malone, were erroneous and that if his services were desired that he would gladly join with Mr. Malone in defending Mr. Scopes.

"When I was in Richmond, Va., someone asked me if I would not be interested in defending the Tennessee professor," said Mr. Darrow. "I said I would. Then I went to New York and before I had seen Mr. Malone some of the newspapers asked me about it. Later I saw Mr. Malone and our telegram was sent. Our office still stands of course."

COUNCIL DECIDES BUILD PAVEMENTS

Objections Considered But Over-Ruled In Special Meet

Work will be started soon upon the pavements on Sherman street, Sixth Avenue to Seventh Avenue, South, and Seventh Avenue, one block to Fourth Avenue, following the decision of the Albany city council at a special meeting at the city hall Tuesday night. It was also the decision of the council to construct the sewer that is to be placed in the rear of the new Christian church on Grant street. Objections were offered by the Decatur Land Company but after due consideration, were over-ruled and the ordinances ordered to be drawn.

King Merritt, representing the Investment Syndicate of Minneapolis, Minn., addressed the council upon the advisability of the city buying bonds for the purpose of retiring the bridge bond issue that was voted on April 7, last. Mr. Merritt's plan offered the city a sinking fund, provided the amount of $1,406 is invested each year with the company. At the end of ten years the city will realize a figure near the $20,000 mark. The plan then carried the provision that should the city reinvest this money for another ten year period and invest $1,360 annually that at the conclusion of the 20 years the sum of $54,000 would be turned back to the city, or more than enough to take care of the bond issue. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

Aldermen Sibley reported that gravel could be purchased for $1.05 per yard which will allow the completion of improvements on the Austinville road at the cost of $200 to the city.

Representatives of the F. W. Woolworth and McLellan stores appeared before the body asking that concessions be made in the matter of licenses allowing them to sell auto parts. This request was not granted. The meeting was closed with no further business.

Troops Form Lines In Square As Hour Of Death Approaches

(Associated Press)
SOFIA, Bulgaria, May 27.—Three of the leaders in the recent bombing of the Sveti Kral cathedral in which nearly 160 persons were killed were hanged here today. Included in the three was the custodian of the cathedral.

The men were executed in a public square in the presence of thousands of persons. Troops formed lines about the execution place, which was just behind a Jewish cemetery.

Half an hour before the men were hanged, their sentences of death were formally read.

Coeff, the first man, mounted the scaffold and a Gypsy executioner adjusted the noose about his neck. Zadorosky came second, tottering up the steps with difficulty.

Friedman, the last to mount the scaffold, approached the hangman with his head held proudly erect.

Joe Broadus Is Winner Of Benson Medal In Declamation

Hundreds of delighted patrons and other visitors streamed through the rooms on second floor of the Decatur high school last night, where the exposition of student work is on display. Prizes, medals and trophies won in various contests were neatly arranged on tables in the library.

The elementary schools also showed hundreds of specimens of drawing, writing, picture work, maps, spelling and other work.

Previous to the opening of the exhibits, an interested audience attended the declamation contest in the auditorium.

Ben Holmes, Gene Morrow, Billy Boswell, Garrod Nungester, and Joe Broadus contested for the medal offered by Superintendent Benson. The committee of judges were W. M. Bailey, J. C. White and Mrs. W. T. Lowe. They awarded the medal to Joe Broadus. His subject was "Unveiling the Monument to General Wheeler."

UNDERWOOD TOO VISITS MAGIC CITY

Senator's Mind Not Yet Made Up On Future Political Plans

(Associated Press)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. May 27.—Manufacturers from every section of the state were arriving here today for the annual meeting of the Associated Industries of Alabama, the program of which will be featured tonight by addresses of Vice President Charles Dawes and Senator Oscar W. Underwood.

Six thousand tickets, which will grant admission to the city auditorium have been distributed. The crowd would have been much larger, Association officials state, if the hall had contained greater seating capacity.

Previous announcement of the Vice President and Mr. Underwood indicated their addresses would center on the question of reformation of senate rules.

Preceding their appearance at the auditorium, Mr. Dawes and Senator Underwood will be guests of the Birmingham Clearing House Association at dinner. The dinner will be a private function strictly it was stated, and no speeches will be made.

Senator Underwood said he expected to confer with friends during his stay of several weeks in Alabama, as to whether he would enter the field as a candidate to succeed himself next year, but primarily his trip was not political. He came to Birmingham at this time, it was stated, to endorse the campaign of General Dawes in his fight for cloture in senate debate.

As to his political career, Mr. Underwood said, the advice of his friends would be carefully weighed before he announced his intentions.

MISSING WITNESS TRACED TO GOTHAM

Robert White Is Sought By Detectives In New York Today

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 27.—While Robert White, upon whose testimony the state largely rests its hope of convicting William D. Shepherd, for the murder of William McClintock, was being sought in New York today, the state's attorney's office continued its inquiry into the alleged jury fixing attempts.

State's Attorney Crowe traced White to New York last night and expected his arrest there today. Meanwhile the formal arrest of James J. Kelly here last night turned the prosecutor's office into a buzzing hive of activity.

Kelly was named in a letter purported to have been written by White last week, which charged he had been forced to flee from Chicago. Kelly admitted having been with White and Arthur Byrne the night before White left the city.

"Kelly has told me a lot," said Assistant State's attorney Joe Savage "but Mr. Crowe has nothing to say."

PEDDLER LICENSE LAW HELD AS VOID

Albany Ordinance May Be Included In Court Decision

The Albany ordinance providing a license for canvassers, commonly known as the "peddlers ordinance," is included in the Portland decision handed down by the supreme court of the United States, is the opinion of attorney G. O. Chenault of the city of Albany. Mr. Chenault stated that the Albany city ordinance was drawn from the Portland ordinance.

The following dispatch was received today from Washington regarding the Portland Real Silk Corporation case:

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 27.—The decision of the supreme court of the United States, handed down on Monday, May 25, in favor of the Real Silk Hosiery Mills, Inc., of Indianapolis, against the City of Portland, Ore., in regarded by attorneys and business men as a test case of far reaching importance.

The question at issue was the right of an incorporated city to tax salesmen of outside manufacturers, merchants, publishers and other organizations seeking to do business through local solicitors or traveling salesmen.

The argument against the tax was based on the constitutional right of congress to fix all laws affecting interstate business, and the supreme court's decision in favor of the Real Silk Hosiery Mills, Inc., nullifies the ordinances of the 480 cities, and establishes a precedent to prevent the enactment of any similar ordinances.

CARE NECESSARY IN HANDLING OF MILK

Supply For Baby Must Be Watched Closely During Summer

Care in handling of milk is necessary to insure a safe supply of milk, and particular care should be exercised in handling of baby's milk during the summer months, according to the following statement made public today by health workers:

"When milk leaves the glands in the cows udder it is sterile if the cow is free from disease. But when it is handled the utmost precaution must be taken to keep it free from organisms. Each handling from cow to consumer increases its chance of becoming contaminated with bacteria.

"1st.—Dust from the air in unclean barns where manure and litter is allowed to accumulate.

"2nd.—Unclean hands of milkers.

"3rd.—Cow not properly cleaned, dust and other filth on udder, sides and tail.

"4th.—Unclean buckets, utensils.

"5th.—Changing from buckets to cans in dust laden air, and from cans to consumer.

"The above factors cause the high bacteria counts, and high sediment counts. Particles of dust so small that straining does not remove them are found in all samples examined that were not handled properly. This sediment, or dirt contains hundreds of bacteria, and when allowed to stand for a few hours they begin to multiply and produce millions of organisms which may cause sickness if any are pathogenic (disease producing).

"For baby's use, buy the best milk possible (of lowest bacteria count, sufficient butter fat and solids) and then pasteurize at home. This makes a good milk better and a safe milk safer.

"A good way to pasteurize milk at home:

1.—Place bottle of milk in a vessel containing water to the same level of the milk, place a pie plate or saucer in the bottom of the vessel and set milk on it. Heat to boiling point and hold there for 30 to 45 minutes. (Do not boil). If a thermometer is used the temperature should be held at 145 to 150 degrees Fahrenheit. If it is a Centigrade hold it at 60 degrees for one-half hour. Remove bottle at end of 30 to 45 minutes, wrap in a towel, place in warm water for a few minutes, then in cool water (to keep from breaking bottle) then on ice. Remember hot weather lowers baby's vitality and increases the bacteria content of milk. You cannot be too careful about baby's food during the summer months."

DECATUR DRIVES TO SCOUT QUOTA

City Almost Goes Over The Goal In First Day's Work

Decatur is driving toward her Scout quota today with the confidence that the full amount will be raised within a very short while. Ingold V. Timberlake stated today that the success of the drive was assured and that the committee had accomplished excellent results in the first day's campaign. The Albany committee, while not nearing the end of the campaign so speedily, was working surely today and will probably have a substantial part of the quota raised at the close of the day's work.

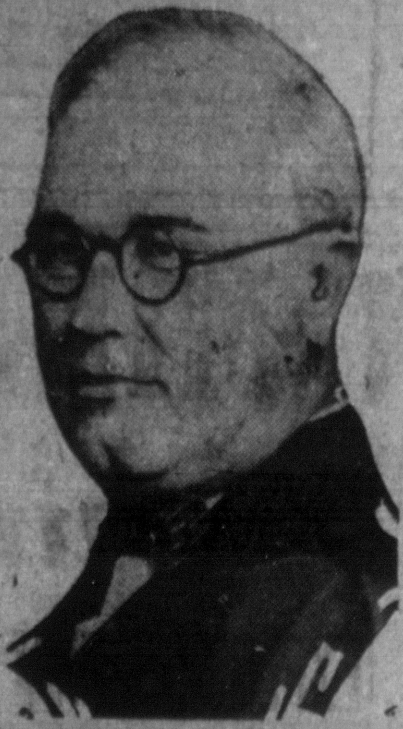

The cities of Albany and Decatur are raising $1,850 to insure the employment of a supervisor for the Scout work within these cities. There is little doubt but that both cities will raise their full allotment of the necessary funds.

A. T. Hanson is chairman of the drive in Decatur, with I. V. Timberlake as assistant chairman. H. M. Priest is the Albany chairman with J. A. Woods as assistant. Charles Rountree is the general chairman of the work in the cities.

TALLAPOOSA, Georgia, May 27—Special—Mary Harris Armour internationally famous temperance lecturer will be one of the speakers at the unveiling at Draketown, Georgia, Sunday of a monument to Mrs. Robert Stewart who was shot to death by rum runners there last November. A band of masked men were attempting to force him to enter an automobile in front of his home, when his wife opened fire on them with a shot gun, they fired a volley in return, mortally wounding her.

Several men have been arrested for the crime.

Special to The Daily:—

CHICAGO, May 27—Next of kin or heirs of the late Mrs. A. J. Pearson, nee Martha Laird, "mystery woman" are being hunted in Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi by W. C. Cox, probate genealogist in the Federal Reserve bank building here, in an effort to dispose of a $10,000 estate left by the woman.

Cox, whose vocation is searching the four corners of the earth for missing persons was commissioned by the attorneys to handle the case after the lawyers exhausted their resources. The fortune neared the time limit point of reverting to the state in which it is located.

When the woman died friends and neighbors knew little about her. Records found in her possession, however, established the fact that she was born in Alabama about 1846 or 1848. The name of her father was given as John Laird and her mother's as Martha Tally. The father died when the daughter was very young. Mother and daughter moved to Mississippi where the mother died when the child was about 10 years old.

Mrs. Pearson, or Miss Laird, was raised by an uncle and married Pearson when about 18 years old. The couple had a son named John who is believed to be still alive and for whom the search is being centered. On the other hand, if the son is dead, leaving no descendants, the fortune is recoverable by heirs on the Laird and Tally sides of the family, who were last reported variously in the three states mentioned. SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—Incubated, mentally, by shock, as a result of experiences during the World War, Renshaw makes a proposition to David Campbell, wealthy, elderly man of leisure, that for a year he assume responsibility for him (Renshaw)—practically "buy" him. Doctor Stanley, life-long friend of Campbell's, indorses the proposition, which Campbell, with some natural misgivings, accepts. The arrangement is that the young man becomes an inmate of the Campbell household, with the nominal but of secretary. Renshaw meets Verity Campbell, grand daughter, and gets the impression that she does not like him. Jenks, the butler, Renshaw also feels, is distinctly hostile.

CHAPTER II.—At dinner, a guest, referred to as Madame Hvoeslef, is not present. Renshaw has a feeling that the servants are spying on him. Jenks warns him that there are "queer things" going on in the house. That night he is disturbed by the appearance on the wall of his room of a small blue circle of light. Mysterious noises in the corridor outside his door cause him to investigate, but he discovers nothing unusual.

CHAPTER III.—Campbell tells Renshaw that the household is in some respects "unusual," but makes light of his story of the mysterious sounds. Renshaw meets Madame Hvoeslef, a foreigner, with an air of mystery.

CHAPTER IV.—Madame Hvoeslef asks Renshaw to go to New York, to seek a journey, on a mission for her next day. During the night the blue circle again appears and the mysterious noises are resumed. Arising to investigate, Renshaw discovers he is locked in. He hears the sound of a heavy body dragging itself up to the transom over the door. Then a hand appears, apparently seeking to open the transom. Unsuccessful, the hand vanishes, and Renshaw hears the sound of a heavy body crawling away.

CHAPTER V.—Remembering Jenks' warning, Renshaw tells the butler of the mysterious noises, but gets no satisfaction. Madame Hvoeslef gives him a handbag, declaring its contents are priceless, which he is to deliver to a Mr. Atkins in New York. After dressing, Renshaw again finds the door locked, but it is promptly opened by Jenks. Renshaw delivers the bag. Hart, Campbell's chauffeur, who drove him to town, tells him Verity and Madame Hvoeslef are at the Waldorf. Remembering his locked door that morning Renshaw is vaguely uneasy about the handbag, and calls up Atkins. He learns that the bag he delivered contained only blank paper.

CHAPTER VI.—Meeting the ladies at the Waldorf, Renshaw learns that Madame Hvoeslef's property is safe, the bag he delivered being a duplicate for which no explanation can be made. Hart gets permission to stay in town that night, producing a substitute chauffeur. On the way home Renshaw sends back the substitute, taking the wheel himself.

CHAPTER VII.—Despite her indifference Renshaw feels himself becoming deeply interested in Verity. During the night he is awakened by the girl, who tells him her grandfather has had an accident and is unconscious. They get the old man to bed. Restored to consciousness he with difficulty conveys to Renshaw a message, "Watch! Take charge."

CHAPTER VIII.—Verity is annoyed at her grandfather placing Renshaw in charge, but they reach an amicable understanding. Verity is impressed by Renshaw's masterful handling of the situation.

CHAPTER IX.—Doctor Stanley visits Campbell, and departs, leaving the local doctor, Morris, in charge. Stanley makes light of the mysterious episodes, as Renshaw describes them. He tells the secretary Madame Hvoeslef's property in the handbag was her memoirs, which she feared might be stolen.

CHAPTER X.—While Verity is showing Renshaw over the house, the two are locked in a clothes closet, the door slamming shut for no apparent reason, and resisting all Renshaw's efforts to open it. They are on the verge of asphyxiation when Jenks, in great perturbation, releases them.

CHAPTER XI.—Renshaw tells Jenks he is convinced the closet door was intentionally closed, but the butler gives him no satisfaction. Their dependence on each other draws Verity and Renshaw closer.

Officers Battle
With Moonshiners

(Associated Press)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 27—Victor Williams, chief prohibition officer of this district, and his aides engaged in a gun battle with moonshiners at Lone Oak in the mountains of Sequatchie County last night. It is said that 30 or 40 shots were exchanged between shiners and officers.

The raiding party located the still and then rushed it. Four men were at work. They captured one man, Jack Gaston and while proceeding to destroy the plant, they were attacked. None of the officers were wounded. The still was of 150 gallon capacity.

It removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or convince.

Speed with SAFETY!

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad has a well-earned reputation for safeguarding its patrons and the public; at the same time developing and maintaining a degree of safety in transportation which permits of unexcelled freight and passenger schedules.

Many L. & N. trains could run faster; considerable running time could be eliminated—but the element of safety has always been one of extraordinary concern to the Management, with the result that its list of fatalities and accidents has been very much below the average of American railroads.

In order to get further speed and also greater safety, this Railroad is installing electrically controlled automatic block signals. The signals protect against collision, open switches, broken rails, etc., and at the same time permit running trains closer together than is possible with the time spacing system, thus increasing track capacity with resultant saving of time.

The installation of these automatic block signals costs approximately $3,500 per mile. When completed, the automatic block signal system of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad will represent an investment of many millions of dollars.

Such expenditures demonstrate the truth of the statement that "it takes a lot of money to run a railroad," and that, at present rate of earnings, railroad rates are not too high.

TODAY May 27, 1913

W. E. Crawford and Claude McMillan, newly appointed postmasters of Decatur and New Albany will probably take charge on July 1.

The Decatur concert band held practice last night. Captain Roy Horton was made drum major. J. A. Buttrely was added to the list of members.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Jervis expect to leave Saturday for Chicago and points in Minnesota.

The American Hotel was raided last night by Chief White, Policemen T. E. Thompson, Bass and Newt Thompson.

To compliment Mrs. Collingwood of Philadelphia, Mrs. Atlee Hoff will entertain Thursday afternoon at four.

A DAILY PRAYER—We pray Thee for the power which lifts out of the mire, and places human beings on the solid foundation built in Christ alone.

Happiness in the headlines is not alone the object of publicity hounds, actresses of the silver screen seem to believe their success is assured after they have been in the courts and the newspapers.

Among the events leading up to a tragedy might be recorded the question, "What Luck?" asked of the man who returned from Florida, the end of the rainbow, without an extra penny to show for his trip.

The cold weather hit North Alabama all at once. Some brave souls continued the wearing of straw hats, others pulled the extra quilt from the shelf, but what we are thankful for is that the crops have not been damaged. Other sections of the country have suffered severe losses, but North Alabama, as always, is among the select and has not suffered greatly.

It's very true, folks, that the bridge bids have not yet been advertised for by the state, it's true that the highway department is probably not able to begin actual construction by July 1, but the fact that construction is going to be started during the summer is a boost to these cities that could not have been gained in any other way. The country is convinced that Albany-Decatur mean to do things once they get started and that there is no heading them off. The time is not far off when the highway department will advertise for bids on the construction of our bridge, until that time we can only sit tight and smile. There will be no hitch at all, so if that's worrying you, just get it off your mind. Big things are usually done slowly, but thoroughly.

We feel that the adoption of a milk ordinance in Albany is now a necessity. We have no proof that there are "carriers" of diseases handling milk in this city; we have no proof that the milk that we drink is not 100 per cent pure, but we would like to have the right of examination. People think at least that much of their health. If the ordinance is a safeguard to the health of the community then it should be adopted. If physicians declare the ordinance to be helpful, then it is up to us to accept their theory, for being on the outside we cannot know the dangers that we have not studied. If the passage of the ordinance means an increased cost to those in the dairy business, we feel assured that they will increase their patronage when they are able to say, "We handle strictly 100 per cent pure milk." They do not wish to handle milk that is a danger against the health of the city.

THE TRI-CITIES DAILY HAS A PARENT-TEACHER EDITION

Monday, the Tri-Cities Daily, over at Sheffield paid a tribute to the Parent-Teacher Association of that city in a well illustrated and constructed edition. The edition has become an annual affair with that good paper and we know of no better "stunt" that they could possibly have worked upon than an edition that is full of complimentary columns upon the work of that organization.

The Parent-Teacher association of any city is an organization that does a wealth of work, accomplishes a great good and says very little about it, with the exception of a few drives during the year in the way of little social affairs to revive interest in the work. The ladies of Albany and Decatur have been working for years in an effort to aid the students of our public school system and their teachers. They have succeeded through their own efforts and the aid of the school systems. They have accomplished much and said very little. That is the kind of work that means worth to any city. May their work continue in constructiveness. May we realize the service that these ladies are giving to these cities and should we be called upon at any time to aid them in a financial way, may our pocketbooks be as free as our

LOUISVILLE BOOSTERS COME
HERE FOR AN OUTLINED PURPOSE

Thursday morning bright and early the businessmen of the Twin Cities will leave their establishments to meet and grasp the hands of friends from Louisville, Kentucky. The Colonels, they are from Kentucky, will pull into the Union depot, with their ears and eyes open to the advantages of this great section of ours. Among these leaders will be a well known visitor to our cities in the personage of Colonel W. L. Mapother, head of the vast Louisville and Nashville system. Colonel Mapother has had his eyes opened to the advantages of this section and probably has had much to do with the hour program that has been set aside for Albany-Decatur.

The Louisville businessmen are not here for a vacation jaunt, far from it, they are here first to promote good will, that vast factor that is linking the entire southland and bringing Dixie into her own in an industrial and agricultural leadership. They are here to see the advantages that we have been talking of for many years; they will determine later on, by their visit here what business outlook there is in the valley, the probable return on investment. They are coming to hear and see for themselves and we do not believe that they will be disappointed.

Louisville's representatives will come from a live district into a live district. They will leave the Twin Cities, Huntsville and the Tri-Cities with the one thought that the people of this territory have been telling the truth about their advantages and that next to Kentucky and Louisville that North Alabama is about the best place in the world to throw out the anchor.

We hope the Louisville gentlemen will have a pleasant trip over their entire itinerary; we know that they will be pleased with our locality. Welcome to Albany-Decatur.

TENNESSEE HAS SET A PRECEDENT
IN HER ANTI-EVOLUTION PRACTICE

Tennessee is going to be "boomed" in some quarters, for her "antiquated" stand upon the theory of evolution teaching in her schools. In other minds she is going to be lauded for her stand with the Holy Bible as a text. Whatever she gets out of the Dayton occurrence, she will obtain a decided publicity stunt that will be of value.

We are not like the greater number of people who believe that the entire matter is a bluff, is of no consequence, should not be regarded as serious. It is a serious matter when the school children, the leaders of the next generation, are taught to disregard the finest teachings that we have, teachings of religious faith.

The Bible was given to us as a rule and guide, a barrier between weak human beings and all of us have our faults and our temptations that are hard to escape, and the pitfalls of not only lives of excess but ordinary business life. If a man encounters life day by day, without looking for temptations, he will find enough opportunities to slip just a little from the road that is right. That is why the Bible has been given us. That is why men who succeed, men who achieve, men who are happy with themselves and those around them, are students of the Bible, followers of the faith that is pure and elevating.

The scientists may have facts to show their convictions seemingly correct. Textbooks are printed by the thousands showing that life on this earth was started with plant life alone, then the mammals and the gigantic reptiles. They have scratches on rocks, petrified masses, to prove their contention that the earth has been in existence millions of years and that possibly Adam and Eve are but a myth, the Garden of Eden a mere supposition, a mirage in the desert of prehistoric time. They overlook the fact, however, that a Christian man or Christian woman takes these facts for granted, but takes the Bible as a faith, the purest faith, an inspiration to man to serve his God and his fellowman to the best of his ability.

Even if Darwin is correct with his mass of calculations and guesses, the exponents of his belief will agree that evolution is but a theory and that when the time comes for giving up this earth for another abode, be that what it may, that they will be greatly pleased to accept the teachings of the Bible.

Tennessee has not taken an antiquated step in declaring her edicts against the teachings of the theory. We believe that the matter so far as the defense will find, is of minor importance, but it is not of minor importance that the children of today are being taught to disregard the teachings of the Bible. The Bible is the foundation of all the good in the world, without it there might be conditions very different, much more serious to deal with.

Some human beings follow the teachings of the Bible because they are afraid of the Divine wrath, others follow it because they love it, but it is a certainty that none of the evolution theorists follow their ideas because they love to think of themselves as descended from apes.

Tennessee has taken a worthwhile stand, she may not be able to cleanse the minds of fanatics on the subject, but she will be able to safeguard the children that are to rule that state in later years.

A MAN IS NOT A FAILURE AS LONG AS HE KEEPS TRYING

"A man is not a total loss until he quits," says the Albany-Decatur Daily. This is in line with the slogan of the Salvation Army that "a man may be down, but he is never out." There always is a chance for the man who keeps on trying to win. There is always a chance for the man who is down to get up. Realization of this sometimes brings most remarkable "come-backs" in life. Men who appeared to have been completely crushed by ill fortune have been known to make a new start and win.

The Albany-Decatur Daily adds that a man "may have a hard time getting started, be looked upon as of secondary importance in his community for a great many years, but if he keeps up his fight there is a chance that he will not be looked upon as a laggard, a loss to his community and to himself."

Nothing is so fatal as "giving up." A person who has met with financial disaster or has had some other form of ill-fortune visit him will not regain his place in business or in the world if he considers himself a failure and refuses to make further effort. On the other hand, the man who falls and tries again may live to fall again, or win out. In fact many have done so. The late Thomas W. Lawson, known as the "Copper King," failed utterly, then "came back and was once more a power in the investing and financial world. Then he failed again and again and finally died almost penniless, after having amassed at least two fortunes. Perhaps his final failure was due to his age. Old age often disqualifies a person for getting back into the business world after a failure.

If Washington had "given up" in the first year of the Revolutionary war, as he must have been tempted to do, American independence might not have been won. But Washington "carried on" in the face of many difficulties. If Clarence Saunders had "given up" when the Piggy-Wiggly fight went against him, he would not now be at the head of a chain store organization that promises to be quite as profitable as the great group of stores he

YOUR HEALTH

Application of Hot Cloths
May Reduce a Goitre

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

ENLARGEMENT of the thyroid gland is known as goitre. It is perfectly natural for some persons to have a prominent Adam's apple. This is not goitre. The thyroid gland fills in the space on each side of the Adam's apple and when this becomes enlarged we have the condition known as goitre.

It is not common to see large goitres in America. In Switzerland and other foreign countries goitres of tremendous size are observed. The growth may weigh several pounds. Of course we find such goitres in America, but not so commonly, fortunately.

There are two forms of goitre. One is known as simple goitre and the other is called exophthalmic goitre. The appearance of the neck may be the same in both forms of the disease, but the results and effects of the two diseases are entirely different.

In simple goitre, the ordinary type of the ailment, the trouble is limited to the neck, involving simply the thyroid gland. Whatever the symptoms are, they are symptoms which can be referred to the degree of pre-sure produced by the swelling of the gland.

The other form of goitre, known as exophthalmic goitre, is entirely different. In this disease the swelling of the neck may not be great. The local pressure symptoms are much less pronounced. But associated with the neck symptom is prominence of the eyeballs. The eyes seem to be pushed forward so far that the lids are widely separated. This is the condition known to doctors as "exophthalmos." The name indicating pushing forward of the eyes.

Another symptom very common in exophthalmic goitre is rapidity of the action of the heart. On the least exertion the heart beats so rapidly as to produce a smothering sensation.

There are other symptoms, all of which can be referred to the nervous system. Among these is local, intense sweating. One side of the body or one patch of the body may be bathed with perspiration while the rest of the body is dry. The hair may drop out. There may be sleeplessness, mental depression and loss of weight.

Exophthalmic goitre is more common in young women. Of course, it may be found in men and in older persons, but the victims are apt to be found among young mothers.

There are a great many different methods of treatment advised by various physicians for the relief of goitre. In pronounced cases operation has been resorted to, but ordinarily it can be controlled by much simpler means.

I need not tell you that improvement of the general health is a matter of vital importance. This is important not only so far as the goitre is concerned, but also as regards the general condition. Attention must be given to all the natural methods—fresh air, proper food, mental and physical rest, sunlight. Right living is of the greatest consequence.

I have found splendid results in the control of simple goitre by the application of hot fomentations. A large towel should be wrung out of water just as hot as can be borne. This is placed over the neck, and over this is placed a dry towel. Just as soon as the towel cools it is removed and dipped in hot water again. This treatment should be continued for a period of ten or fifteen minutes night and morning.

YOU know how many times
you walk on them—how

ADVICE TO GIRLS
By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am very fond of a young man. He has asked to call several times, but each time I was obliged to refuse on account of other engagements. I think he is rather angry at my refusing him so often, for he has not asked to call for a long time.

I do not think it would be right to ask him to call, because I do not know him very well.

Can you advise me what to do?
I am very anxious to know him better.

MC: In view of the fact that this young man has asked permission to call on you several times, it would be quite proper for you to extend an invitation to him. He will probably be delighted at the opportunity to learn to know you—and you will, too, won't you?

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am a boy in my teens, and for the last year I have been going to many dances, but something gets in me that makes me afraid of girls and will not let me dance. Then when the dance is over I make up my mind that I will dance the next time, but the same thing happens to me again.
Will you please tell me what to do?

JUST A BOY: You must make up your mind, once and for all,
to overcome your timidity.
When you are with people, forget yourself completely. Talk to them of the things which interest you, be gay and cheerful and you will soon lose your self-consciousness. When you are at a dance forget that young ladies are present. Talk to them as if they were school pals of yours, and you will find yourself dancing very nonchalantly. But don't let this antisocial habit get control of you. Conquer it right now!

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
If a person says to you when leaving, "I am very glad I have met you," what are you supposed to say?

READER: A gracious smile and a "Thank you. I have enjoyed our meeting, too," is sufficient.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am a girl eighteen years of age and am in love with a man who is twenty-four.

Every time I'm around where he is and he smiles at a girl, I get so jealous I can't control myself.
Please tell me how to overcome this jealousy.

HARD-HEARTED: If you realize that your jealousy is unfounded and rather silly, that is the first step toward curing it, my dear. You know that you have not the right to feel envious or jealous of this young man's friends.
This alone should help you to overcome this "disease." Try it!

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am a girl in my teens. I met a young man two years my senior. He seemed to care a great deal for me. The last time he came he asked me what kind of a ring I would like.

ANXIOUS GRAY EYES: If this young man has asked you to be his wife, the decision rests with you, my dear. If you feel that your marriage would be a successful one, that you are genuinely fond of him and have tastes and interests in common, your answer will be "yes."
But if you value him only as a friend, tell him so tactfully and kindly.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am a young girl in high school. In a fit of anger I insulted a very dear friend of mine. He wrote and apologized for it, but which had provoked me and said he would refrain from doing it again for my sake. I ignored his apology and now I regret it greatly.

Please advise me as to what is the right thing for me to do.

REMEMBERFUL: You owe this young man an apology, my dear. If you write him a short note, telling him how sorry you are and asking his pardon, I think he will forgive you. In the future, try hard to control your temper, for it is certainly not a social asset.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry, subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her in care of this office.

A Hint for Beginners

The cross-word puzzle diagram is merely a means of concealing words which are synonymous to those listed and which will interlock perfectly and so read equally well crosswise or downwards. Always look for the number of the synonym on the diagram. If horizontal, you must find a word to fit between that number and the first shaded stop below.

Wm. G. McAdoo Calls Memorial Coins South's "Badges of Honor"

Stone Mountain Memorial Must be Completed Declares Ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois.

"The campaign for the distribution of the Confederate Memorial Half-Dollar, minted under special Act of the Congress of the United States as souvenir of Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial deserves the support of all who love to honor the great deeds of the South and the heroes who performed them," says William G. McAdoo, and continues: "The proceeds of the sale of these coins are to be used for the com-the common heritage of all.

"Let the people of the South in particular accept the present opportunity to buy these coins and thereby assure the completion of this great Stone Mountain Memorial as a tribute to their heroic sons."

Ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, says:

"I have noted with interest the beginning of the campaign for the sale of Confederate Memorial coins issued by the National Government for the benefit of Stone Mountain Memorial.

"I have seen the beginnings of this marvelous Memorial to American valor and I should like to see the great work completed. When other monuments erected by men's hands have crumbled into dust this Memorial to brave and devoted men will stand as eternal as the hills.

"It will be a source of inspiration to uncounted generations of the children of men. I hope that the campaign may have the success it deserves and that these souvenir coins may find eager and willing purchasers everywhere."

Power Team Continues Victorious March As Shopmen Are Unable To Stop Hitting

The Louisville and Nashville Shopmen made a desperate effort yesterday afternoon to check the winning stride of the Alabama Power company. The I. & N. managerial talant hauled in a new hurler in the personage of Slim Odom. Odom hurled the entire route, but it cannot be said that he survived the full game. Odom got over the first inning in good shape and the other seven in very poor shape. The Powermen scored in every inning with the exception of the first and seventh. The batting spree ended after the Power company had scored exactly sixteen times.

The Shopmen hit Bloodworth freely but were unable to bunch blows, errors were responsible for runs by the shop folks. The Shopmen gathered a pair in the third, one in the sixth and a single tally in the eighth and ninth.

BEAR CATS WIN TITLE OVER DECORA TEAM

Bear Cats Monday night won out on bowling at the Y. M. C. A. against Decora team, which for the second time tried to capture championship honors in 10 pins.

This match permits the Bear Cats composed of R. F. Smith, Dr. Baugh, Chief Sorber, David Jones and Dr. Clements to have their names engraved upon the beautiful perpetual trophy as a permanent record of championship bowling in 10-pins at the Y. M. C. A. for a period of nine weeks.

Monday night's match ends 10-pins at this season. However, Monday next sees the inauguration of 5-pins for the summer months. Some forty business men have already signed up for this tournament. It promises to be exciting throughout.

Chief Sorber was the big gun in both high single and high total pinage for Monday night, as scores below show.

FUGUE FORMATION OBSERVED IN WORLD'S EARLIEST MUSIC

BERLIN.—The oldest known musical manuscript has been deciphered by Dr. Curt Sachs, music historian at the Berlin University.

It is of Babylonian origin with cuneiform ideographs inscribed on clay plates, and was found at Assur in Asia Minor. This music is said to date back to the 2nd century B. C. Half tones are not employed at all, but five tones of the scale are used in fugue formation. The accompaniment to the melody is furnished by a harp of 18 strings, for which double stops are frequently prescribed.

MOTOR BUSES OPEN UP NEW RESIDENCE AREAS

LONDON.—Motor omnibuses have done wonders in England to build up the country districts in the movement started years ago to relieve the housing problem in London and other cities.

According to recent estimates there are approximately 55,000 miles of omnibus routes in the various parts of England. The tendency throughout the country has been to extend these services, and a noticeable growth of houses has been reported along the new lines.

REALISTIC PAINTINGS OF WEIRD SEASCAPES MADE UNDER WATER

DIO DE JANEIRO.—Few people here know that Zach Pritchard, the American painter of submarine life, has been leading a hermits life in Brazil for two months, painting for exhibitions at Paris and Brussels, the former opening June 1. He has been living on Paqueta Island in the middle of Rio's big harbor and four by ferry from the city. A house was rented in an unfrequented part of the island and a chain and padlock placed on the garden gate. The island is quiet enough to satisfy his need for solitude. Although it contains a small village there are no street cars, automobiles or telephones.

The submarine painter makes his sketches on specially oiled material while working under water in a diving suit, generally at depths of about 25 feet. Here the luminosity of the water is equal to daylight above the surface. The artist says he forgets about being under water as he sketches until he is warned by a tug on his air hose, by the watchers overhead, that there is danger in the neighborhood. Big fish do not bother him, as they are wary about the strange animal which is always emitting a stream of bubbles from the top of its head.

Mr. Pritchard's paintings are impressionistic studies, showing fish, which often have the appearance of birds flying through the air. Living corals and sea plants of various tints appear to be trees and forests and dead coral formations often resemble which are made on calf skin to secure canyons and cathedrals.

Mr. Pritchard came to Brazil to prepare for the exhibitions. He has discovered that the climate here is unsurpassed for drying his paintings which are made on calf skin to secure the peculiar effect resembling a watery atmosphere.
